GLORIOUS CELEBRATION.

CULMINATION OF THE MARIETTA CENTENNIAL.

The City Packed With Strangers—Governor Foraker Delivers the Address of Welcome—Speeches by Senator Hoar, Ex-President Hayes and Others.

MARIETTA, O., April 7.—To-day is the one hundredth anniversary of the settlement of Ohio and the northwest territory. One century ago a band of forty-eight pioneers came floating down the river in a boat called the Mayflower. They had been traveling by water for five days and knew that they must be near their destination—the mouth of the Muskingum.

The day was Monday, the weather cloudy and during the early part of the morning, rain fell. The river was misty, silent, impressive. No sound arose from its shores. Spring was beginning to blow with its balmy breath over the Ohio hills. As the forenoon wore away some one said to Gen. Putnam: "We must be near the mouth of the Muskingum." The current swept the boat steadily on, and though many eyes were anxiously watching for the Muskingum it was not discovered till they had been borne passed it. The dense growth of timber almost concealed the mouth of the river from view.

After a time the boat was pushed back and at noon a landing was made on the Marietta side of the Muskingum, about four hundred yards above its mouth. The pioneers were met when they landed by a party of seventy Indians who made friendly overtures to them. Such was the coming of the first settlers to the Ohio county. For a time they lived in tents. Then cabins, stockades and forts were erected, but it was not until after the Indian wars that culminated in 1796 that settlers could put aside all fears of attacks by the Indians.

Marietta to-day is packed with strangers in holiday attire, and the strains of music are to be heard in every direction. Flags are flying from nearly every roof and hundreds of windows. Houses and public buildings are gayly decorated with bunting and evergreens.

The formal celebration was opened at 9:30 o'clock with prayer and music, after which an address of welcome was delivered by Governor Foraker.

After referring to the trials, tribulations, sufferings and sacrifices of the brave men who landed here April 7, 1787, and how farms and cities have succeeded forests and savages; how manufactures, commerce, art, education, literature and morality had flourished since that time and benefitted mankind, he said:

"But how changed. Our state is but one of five great empires, almost, that have been created from what was then known as the 'territory lying northwest of the river Ohio.' And yet we have within our borders a population of nearly 4,000,000 of people. Our 40,000 square miles of area are covered with all the improvements, conveniences, facilities, beauties and adornments of the most advanced modern christian civilization, and Ohio in these respects is but typical, not only of that original northwest territory but also of that farther and greater west lying still beyond and stretching away to the golden shores of the Pacific.

"This is the hour of our might and glory. In it we turn to this spot, proud of our achievements, but not unmindful of our humble beginning. We come, however, not to boast of what has been accomplished, but to express appreciation for those conditions by which that beginning was surrounded, on account of which all that has since followed was made possible. We come here to-day remembering that we owe to New England and to Virginia and other of our sister states a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid, except only by that necessary compensation that must result, if we continue to stand together, as God and our fathers intended, for an indissoluble union, a common constitution, one country, one flag and one destiny for the whole American people."

At the close of his remarks he read this message from George S. Green, mayor of St. Augustine, Florida: "The oldest city in the United States sends heartiest greeting to the oldest city of the northwestern territory."

Senator Hoar, the orator of the day, was then introduced. He spoke for an hour and thirty minutes.

Among other things he said: "We take no leaf from the pure chaplet of Washington's fame when we say that the success of the first great military operation of the revolution was due to Rufus Putnam. The Americans, under Israel Putnam, marched into Boston, drums beating and colors flying. The veteran British army, aided by a strong naval force, soldier and sailor, Englishman and Tory, sick and well, bag and baggage, got out of Boston before the strategy of Washington, the engineering of Putnam, and the courage of the despised and untried yeomen, from whose leaders they withheld the usual titles of military respect. 'It resembled,' said Burke, 'more the emigration of a nation than the breaking up of a camp.'"

Senator Hoar was followed by ex-President Hayes and Bernard Peters, editor of the Brooklyn Times, who told in graphic words the story of the German pioneers in the west.

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

In Falling from a Tree an Unknown Man Hanged Himself.

RAWLINGS, WY. T., April 9.—A hunter in the Elk Head mountains of northern Colorado, tells of the singular death of a tramp who came to his camp about a month ago, foot sore, ragged and half frozen. After resting for several days at the camp of the hunter, he was furnished with full directions to find the place he was in search of. Among his articles of attire he sported a long tailed coat and carried a bottle of whisky in each pocket.

Several days afterwards the hunter found, a short distance from his camp, the tramp's body suspended by his coat-tails from the limb of a large tree. He had climbed the tree to look over the country and make sure of his course, and he had fallen headlong. The coat-tails had, aided by the weight and action of the bottles, knotted themselves about the limb, and being fastened at the throat by a stout buckskin string, had been jerked up over his head, entangling the arms and shutting off respiration.

FLOODS AND FRESHETS.

Disastrous Washout in Massachusetts. Other Affected Points.

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., April 9.—The train leaving this place over the Rutland railway at 11 o'clock Friday night was wrecked one mile above Rockingham station by a washout. Engineer Pratt and Fireman John Pratt were killed. The baggage and express cars were burned together with their contents. Many other people on the train were badly bruised. The sleeper and passenger coach did not leave the track.

Among the passengers injured are:

V. E. Burdick, Middlebury, Vt., sprained ankle and scalp wound, back injured, serious.

Mary Lovely, Essex Junction, Vt., cut on the back of the head and on the arm, not serious.

Mrs. Lewis Moore, Burlington, Vt., injury to the left leg.

Annie Moore, aged five years, child of the former, injured in the left groin.

Mrs. Clark Gibson, Sheldon Springs, Vt., injured around the head.

The bodies of the engineer and fireman were brought to this place. Both men were veterans in the service.

The injured were taken to their respective homes in Pullman sleepers.

Bridges Go Like Chips.

WEST STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., April 9.—A most disastrous freshet occurred here Friday night. The heavy rain of Thursday night filled the tributary ponds to Williams river, which runs through the village and joins the Housatonic at Vanduzenville.

At midnight Friday night the dam at Shaker mills gave way. The abutments of the bridge just above the dam were carried away, rendering the bridge unsafe, and it must be rebuilt. The bridge on Main street was carried away, not a vestige of it being left. The abutments of the Housatonic railway bridge, a short distance below the village is gone.

The Stockbridge mountains are overflowed.

When the alarm was given families hurriedly left their houses in a half dressed condition.

At Vanduzenville fears were felt for the safety of the dam, and at the Berkshire woolen mills, Great Barrington, a force remained on duty all night. At daylight the water had somewhat subsided, but at noon it commenced to rise again and the ice having formed a gorge above, further disaster is feared.

The Des Moines River on a Tear.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 9.—A dispatch from Humboldt Friday night said the Des Moines river at that point has not been so high for twenty years. Brown's grist mill at Dakota City is in great danger of being swept away.

The Minneapolis & St. Louis railway bridge at Livermore has been swept away. The flood was caused by heavy rains on Wednesday night and the melting of the snow in northern Iowa.

YOUNG LOGAN INNOCENT.

Sheriff Warnock Talks Concerning the Recent Riot at Carbon.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 9.—John A. Logan, Jr., who was arrested charged with shooting an Italian quarryman during the riot at Carbon, gave bail for a hearing next Tuesday. Sheriff Warnock said Friday afternoon: "You can say on my authority that Logan did not fire the shot that struck the Italian. Logan carried a revolver with a large caliber that would have torn the Italian's leg nearly off instead of making the flesh wound he received. Logan was sworn in as a deputy sheriff and was acting under my authority." The guards at the quarries have been furnished with Winchester rifles, and work will be resumed shortly.

A Tinner's Close Call.

XENIA, O., April 9.—Charles Genier, a tinner, while standing on a ladder scaffolding repairing the gutter of a three story building on West Main street, found the ladder giving away under him. With a quick motion he grasped the gutter just as the ladder went down with a crash, and in that position was suspended for quite a length of time until the ladder was returned to its place. When he found the ladder replaced he was on the verge of exhaustion from holding on and fright. The scene was witnessed by a large number of people.

Points From Panama.

NEW YORK, April 9.—A dispatch from Panama dated March 28 says: The concession for gambling was sold by the government for the next three years for $147,000, and that for killing cattle, for $143,000. At the present there is a spurt in canal work, and great activity is perceptible all along the line. The American Contracting & Dredging company are doing excellent work on the Atlantic side. Seven huge dredges are cutting their way towards the interior.

Sad Blow to a Monument.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 9.—During the rain and thunder storm Thursday evening the lightning struck the new $10,000 soldiers' monument recently erected in Mount Hope cemetery. The stone flagstaff surmounting the monument was shattered by the stroke, and the cap on the head of the color bearer was blackened. The injury will be a serious one to repair, as the flagstaff is eighty feet above the ground, and formed a part of the figure of the color bearer.

Unrestricted Reciprocity.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 9.—The great debate on unrestricted reciprocity, which has lasted three weeks and in which seventy-two members have spoken, terminated at 4:45 o'clock this morning. The resolution in favor of unrestricted reciprocity in trade and reciprocity in coasting with the United States was reported by a vote of 124 to 67. The house then adjourned, the members singing "God Save the Queen." The debate at times was exceedingly acrimonious.

Still After the Bootleggers.

NEW YORK, April 9.—District Attorney Fellows said to-day that he would move for trial for one of the bootleg cases in a few days. It is understood that Jim Richmond's case is the selected.

Insurance Companies Will Pay the Loss.

THE RECENT CONFERENCE

BETWEEN MR. POWDERLY, FOR THE KNIGHTS, AND THE BROTHERHOOD

Result in a Friendly Feeling—Neither to Take the Others' Places in Case of a Strike—Burlington Yardmasters Said to Be on a Strike—Labor Notes.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The Herald's Scranton, Pa., dispatch says that as a result of the recent conferences between Mr. Powderly and representatives of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers a friendly feeling has been established between the knights and engineers, by which future antagonism between these organizations will be averted. An injury to one will be the concern of the other, and provisions will be made to prevent brotherhood men taking the places of Knights of Labor on strike and vice versa.

When asked if it was true that he had ordered out Knights of Labor on the Burlington road, Mr. Powderly said:

"There is no truth in that statement. I was waited on by a committee representing the Engineers' Brotherhood, who came on from Chicago. The main question discussed was the stoppage of Knights of Labor, who went from the east to take the places of the engineers on the Burlington road. I explained to the committee that it was a difficult thing to reach those men or influence them in any way, for the reason that they had violated their obligations as Knights of Labor by taking the step they did in playing the scab."

"I also explained to them that a great many of the men who claimed to be Knights of Labor and took the places of the Burlington engineers had never been members of our organization. Not over one hundred and fifty knights all told have gone out to the Burlington road and over one half of them have returned to their homes. Indeed I do not see how a man who has taken the pledges of the Knights of Labor could put himself in charge of Pinkerton's agents, for if there is a creature that crawls upon the face of the earth that is a Knight of Labor should despise it, it is a Pinkerton detective."

"I have addressed a letter to the Knights of Labor along the Burlington road, advising them to meet with our erring knights and ask them to return to their homes."

"Has any arrangement been entered into between the Knights of Labor and the Brotherhood for a union of interests?"

"Well, yes; it is agreed that when this strike is over there is to be an effort made to have the Brotherhood and the Knights of Labor come to an understanding as to the settlement of all disputes in future."

"Have you and Chief Arthur buried the hatchet?"

"There has never been a hatchet, or even the semblance of a tomahawk, between Arthur and myself and can answer your question with a most emphatic 'Yes,' so far as I am concerned."

"In conclusion Mr. Powderly expressed the opinion that the Burlington strike has proved a success, for the reason that it has opened the eyes of the workingman to the fact that no matter what occupation they may follow their interests are identical and there should be a thorough understanding, if not a complete organization between all branches of labor."

Yardmasters' Strike.

CHICAGO, April 9.—Late Friday night a report was received at the rooms of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers at the Grand Pacific that all the yardmasters of the Burlington except three had left the service of the company because they would not work with "scabs." There are in all about twenty yardmasters in the night and day crews, and it is their knowledge of the local geography of the yards which makes them valuable, and upon that knowledge depends the proper disposition of the freights as they arrive. Hence it will be seen that they occupy peculiarly important positions just at this time, as the rush of freight on the Burlington, which the raising of the boycott has caused, renders it imperative that all consignments be handled with expedition. This blow following the switchmen's strike, just at the moment when it would produce the most harm, looks as if the fight was not yet over.

LATER—There was no general strike of yardmasters on the Burlington road as reported. Three yardmasters at Sixteenth street quit work, having become disgusted with the men they had to work with in the yards. The three men were closeted with Superintendent Bessler and Trainmaster Pape this morning. The latter gentlemen were endeavoring to induce the yardmasters to return to their places, it is said.

Switch Engine Derailed.

CHICAGO, April 9.—At 9 o'clock Friday night a switch engine of the Burlington road pulling a train of cars loaded with lumber, ran off a side track leading into the lumber yards on Blue Island avenue, a little east of Western avenue, and bumped along the ties for forty rods. The switch leading from the main track had been misplaced by some one, causing the accident. Mark Gerhard, the fireman, was thrown out of the cab and fell under the engine, receiving severe injuries. His right leg was broken between the knee and hip. Frank Latham, yardmaster, William Putnam, and Officers McGovern and Fitzgerald were also thrown from the train, but none of them were injured. Gerhard was taken to the county hospital. Whether the turning of the switch was done by strikers the people interested do not know.

Basketmakers Organize.

ERIE, Pa., April 9.—The Basketmakers' association, which met here Thursday in convention, organized and will meet annually hereafter. There were represented about twenty factories in western New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan. The association elected C. Colby, of Fenton Harbor, Mich., president, and D. C. Brown, of North Collins, N. Y., secretary and treasurer.

Marblecutters' Strike Off.

BOSTON, April 9.—The marblecutters have declared their strike for nine hours off.

Oleomargarine vs. Butter.

BOSTON, Mass., April 9.—The state board of health will declare oleomargarine to be good and wholesome food and preferable to low grade butter.

DAUGHTER VS. FATHER

An Unparalleled Scene in a West Virginia Court Room.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., April 9.—Friday witnessed an exciting scene seldom paralleled in the court room of the court of Mason county. The case was an application for a license on the part of a prominent liquor dealer named Livia. Petitions pro and con, signed by hundreds of citizens, were presented to the court by able lawyers, as the case had excited general attention.

The court had listened to counsel, and the decision granting a license was almost rendered when the daughter of the applicant, a beautiful young woman, and deputy clerk of the county court, was informed of the fact.

Rushing into the court room she raised her hands and demanded an audience. The court granted it. Then the fair complainant sent up such an appeal that the license should not be granted to her father as is seldom heard, couched in the most chaste language and burning with that eloquence which the "righteousness of her cause inspired," for twenty minutes she held the judges and vast audience spellbound.

Counsel for the applicant, she said, had alleged that the petition against granting the license was signed principally by women. Rising to her full height this young woman declared "that the fundamental law of the United States gave the right of petition to all, regardless of sex." Her eloquence caused the judges to reverse their decision and they refused the license.

"BLINKY" MORGAN OBJECTS.

The Sixth Person Positively Identifies Him as a Relative.

COLUMBUS, O., April 9.—"Blinky" Morgan, who is confined in the annex of the penitentiary under sentence as one of the actors in the Ravenna tragedy, has been identified so often that he hardly knows who he is himself. The last and sixth man is Jonathan Wright, of Holmes county, who has positively identified Morgan as a relative. As usual, however, Morgan denies the relationship. "Blinky" is very much incensed over some one having written a book containing an alleged history of his life. In speaking of it Morgan said:

"News agents are selling a book purporting to be the life of 'Blinky' Morgan, which they dispose of for fifty cents. A gentleman from the northern part of the state informed me of the fact to-day, and I was not a little surprised and annoyed about it. I desire to warn the public against the swindle. It is simply a work of fiction, as I have never at any time published or written a single word in relation to my life or associations, and I think the public should be cautioned against such fraudulent swindles."

Six Bodies Recovered from the Wreck.

NEW HAMPTON, Iowa, April 9.—Up to 10 o'clock this morning six dead bodies had been taken from the railroad wreck at the Wapsie river. On account of the high water further search for bodies is an impossibility, though it is thought other dead are still in the wreck. Twenty are injured, but all will live. They were brought to New Hampton in the faded train's sleeper. The coroner's inquest began to-day. The names of the dead, so far as discovered, are: Engineer James Schlegel, of Mason City; Willard Anderson, of La Motte, Wis.; C. M. Christen, an emigrant from Denmark; John Duce, the baby; Dora Hiebrece; one unknown.

Building Blown Up by Dynamite.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 9.—A building used as a cooper shop in that part of the town known as Oregon, was destroyed about 2 o'clock this morning by dynamite cartridges that had been placed under it. The shop was used by Joseph Horner. He believes that it was done for the purpose of intimidating him and to compel him to vacate the ground on which the shop was built and for which he holds a ten years lease. The shock of the explosion was so heavy as to toss some of the people living near the scene of the explosion almost out of their beds.

Caught Him at Last.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 9.—Commodore Chauncey Twaddle, the veteran Vandallia bridge tender at the Wabash river crossing in this city, failed to see a Vandallia passenger train dash out of the bridge as he was crossing the track. His son caught him, but it was too late, for the engine struck him, breaking a leg and otherwise injuring him, possibly fatally. He is seventy-three, and has been the bridge watchman since it was built, many years ago.

Father Histenach Confirmed as Abbot.

LATROBE, Pa., April 9.—A cablegram has been received at St. Vincent's monastery, from Rome, stating that the pope had confirmed the election of Rev. Andrew Histenach as abbot of St. Vincent's, to succeed Abbott Wimmer, deceased. Father Histenach is at present pastor of a church at Tusculum, Ala. He is about forty-three years of age, and was educated at St. Vincent's.

Nitro-Glycerine Explosion.

LAFORTE, Ind., April 9.—About 10 o'clock Friday a tank of nitro-glycerine exploded in one of the buildings of the Aetna powder works near Miller's station, west of here, on the Lake Shore road. The structure was blown to atoms and three employees, John Gill, Lawrence Jensen and Henry Scott were killed. The remains of the latter have not been found. Cause of explosion not known.

The Raleigh Bank Forgers.

TORONTO, April 9.—White and Cross, the Raleigh bank forgers, have offered to return to Raleigh on the charge of forgery without extradition but not on the charge of bringing stolen money into Canada. Counsel for the Norfolk bank refused to withdraw this charge but some understanding may soon be reached.

Drowned in an Old Well.

PALMYRA, Mo., April 9.—Fifteen school children while playing yesterday around an old well were precipitated to the bottom by the breaking of several rotten planks. Two, Arthur Little and Mary Laran, were drowned. Several were badly injured and not expected to live. The well was thirty feet deep.

Ill Only Six Hours.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 9.—Edward J. Holmes, for many years clerk of the supreme court of Iowa, died yesterday of neuralgia of the heart, after an illness of six hours. He was born in Niagara county, New York, January 27, 1831.

HECHINGER & CO.

The past week clearly defined the situation of the Clothing trade in Maysville. The number of customers that at times crowded our house and patiently waited (we thank them for it) until it came their turn to be waited on, was something wonderful for so early in the season. Yet when you see OUR goods, OUR styles, OUR prices, and consider OUR reputation for fair dealing, it is not such a remarkable matter after all. We to-day show lines of specialties in Business and Dress Suits that cannot be found in any other Clothing House in the State. We have, in connection with our general line of goods, taken special pains to please the ladies with our Children's Wear. Our STAR WAISTS are just the thing for the little fellows. "Ain't they just elegant?" and "Well, they are beautiful!" are the expressions of mothers that see them. This week will be HAT week in our house. Look out for the display of them in our windows. In our Custom department we are turning out work that speaks for itself. Respectfully,

Cleveland and the Pensioners.

The Daily Republican asks "why do we have no more vetoes of the private pension bills from the President?" and then adds: "Is it possible that the approach of the Presidential election has anything to do with the change in his practice?"

The President has demonstrated to the satisfaction of all that he is not afraid to discharge his duties in a conscientious manner, regardless of all consequences. The fact of the matter is, that few of the numerous pension bills introduced in Congress the present session have passed both houses. The "approach of the Presidential election" will not have but little influence with Cleveland in his consideration of these bills.

The records of the Pension Department show that the Union veterans have nothing to fear from a Democratic administration.

At Cynthia last Saturday, P. H. Crane was chosen Police Judge by ninety-four majority, defeating W. J. Grinnan. Crane ran on the People's ticket, which also made a clean sweep for councilmen in all the wards except one, where the vote was a tie.

THERE isn't another State in the Union whose representatives in Congress occupy a more conspicuous place than the Kentucky delegation. McCreary, Breckinridge, Blackburn, Beck and Carlisle! What other State can make such an array of gifted sons in Congress? The Commonwealth is "gettin' there" right along.

WEST VIRGINIA will have to wait awhile before she gets her Hatfield outlaws. Judge Jackson has affirmed Judge Barr's decision, in the United States Court at Louisville, remanding the prisoners to Pike County for trial. Governor Wilson can now return to Charleston with the consoling thought that he has done his duty in the case. The law was "agin' him."

"SENATOR INGALLS, of Kansas, is noted for his small feet," remarks the Circleville, O., Democrat and Watchman. "He can wear a 4½ shoe comfortably, and usually covers his pedal extremities with the finest French calf. No measurement has ever been made of his mouth, but it is believed to be about the same size. The last time he opened it in the Senate he performed the memorable feat of putting his foot in it." Ingalls' silence since the occasion referred serves to confirm our contemporary's statement.

The Augusta Election.

The election at Augusta last Saturday passed off quietly, good order prevailing throughout. The entire temperance ticket was elected as follows:

The Trouble at Tygart.

Mention was made last Saturday of the trouble over the abutments for the railroad bridge at Tygart Creek. A special from Portsmouth says: "A conference was held Friday at the bridge between the sub-contractors on one side and Colonel Childs and H. E. Huntington, representing C. P. Huntington, builder of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad, and Colonel Mason, representing the head contractors, on the other side.

"This conference was not so amicable in its outcome as gentlemen who love to dwell in unity could have desired. The railway people earnestly tried to effect a compromise, but the contractors were firm in their demands for their money, and as a result Colonel Childs went to Greenup, Ky., to invoke the aid of the law in giving the company possession of the stone work. As a result, Sheriff Taylor, of Greenup County, Kentucky, his Deputy and several assistants came to Tygart, and terminated the matter by taking possession."

It has since been learned that the trouble has all been settled, and the contractors are engaged in putting up the iron work of the bridge.

A tobacco man in Pendleton County says that the finest plants that he ever had were from a bed planted between the 10th and 15th of April. He believes in thin sowing—a teaspoonful to ten feet square. He has tried both plans at the same time and always got the best plants from thin sowing.

Steele Bros., of Fayette County, raised the past year 400 acres of hemp and 100 acres of tobacco. Their plant this year will include 350 acres of hemp and 100 acres of tobacco, which they have already sold, and 200 acres of corn and some other crops. Their net profits the past year will exceed $10,000.

MR. GLADSTONE'S WISDOM

PLAIN TO THOSE WHO COMPREHEND
THE BUDGET'S IMPORTANCE.

England Not a Sentimental Nation—A
Clergyman Boycotted—Balfour Jubilant.
England Interested in Affairs at Berlin.
Royal Luncheon—Foreign News.

LONDON, April 9.—The wisdom shown by Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues in allowing parliament and the nation an interval of quiet in Irish matters is apparent to those who comprehend the importance of the budget, and the proposed increases and remissions of taxation offered by Mr. Goschen, wherein to the country at large.

England is far from being a sentimental nation, and the prospective tax on bottled wines is of more importance to this land of shopkeepers than the welfare or grievances of the sister isle. Even the most favorably inclined Englishmen and the impatient Irish contingent realize the fact that it is best to devote a short time to preparation for the impending struggle. The Tories interpret this as a sign that the recruits gained for the Irish cause are weary of the conflict and that the nation has given a tacit approval of repression, pointing to the partial successes in several recent elections as a proof of the correctness of their estimate, but the supporters of Mr. Gladstone, after a careful recapitulation of losses and gains, state that they have more reason than ever to believe in the future success of the cause for which they have defied misrepresentation and in many cases ostracism.

Certainly never before did nearly three hundred clergymen of the established church testify publicly their belief that the only remedy for Irish troubles is unrestricted Home Rule, barring all consequences in the avowal.

It is a matter of fact that one rector in Warwickshire has been boycotted by his conservative neighbors as a consequence of his injudicious intemperance, and the deterring influence of such examples upon others can be easily imagined. Still the protests of the dean of Westchester and others cannot fail to have their effect.

There is not much probability of any important measures relating to the Irish question being brought up until the next session. The English are now busy discussing the proposed tax on wheeled vehicles and the important consideration as to whether the abolition of hawkers' licenses would tend to increase the number of that objectionable body, and until such momentous matters are decided upon it would be vain to ask them to think of anything else.

Mr. Balfour is jubilant over the temporary relief and has relaxed his vigilance somewhat, but for all that nobody believes that future league meetings in Ireland be as undisturbed as those recently held by Messrs. O'Brien and Healy at Mitchellstown.

Would Affect Germany's Policy.

BERLIN, April 9.—The National Zeitung and the Reichsanzeiger oppose the alliance between Prince Alexander and Princess Victoria as effecting Germany's policy. It is stated that the emperor had intended to confer upon Prince Alexander the title "Fürst" as proof of the latter's renunciation of the Bulgarian throne, but yielded to Prince Bismarck's protests against his so doing. Well informed persons express doubt that the differences between the emperor and Prince Bismarck can now be arranged, though few believe that the chancellor will voluntarily desert his post at this time.

England Interested.

LONDON, April 9.—The government is somewhat concerned about the situation of affairs in Berlin have now assumed so far as English interests are involved. It is feared that the irritation against the empress and Queen Victoria which is rapidly increasing may extend to the British nation and destroy the cordial relations now existing between them and Germany. It is stated that Lord Salisbury has begged the queen to desist from interfering in the trouble that has arisen over the proposed marriage of Princess Victoria to Prince Alexander.

A Royal Luncheon Party.

FLORENCE, April 9.—The emperor and empress of Brazil visited Queen Victoria at the Villa Palmieri to-day. Queen Victoria and Prince and Princess Henry of Battenberg partook of luncheon with the king and queen of Italy at the Pitti palace. There were also present at the luncheon other members of the royal family, Premier Crispien, Earl Cadogan, and the syndics of Florence. Covers were laid for fifty-six guests. Queen Victoria sat on the right of King Humbert and the empress of Brazil on the left.

Will We Bombard Tangier?

TANGIER, April 9.—Affairs remain as yet in an unsettled condition, but the English, French and Italian ministers will endeavor to bring the difficulty between our government and Morocco to a peaceable settlement. United States flagship Lancaster is at Gibraltar.

Boulanger Accepted.

PARIS, April 9.—The two thousand electors in the department of Nord, among which number are six dissidents, have accepted Gen. Boulanger as a candidate for the chamber of deputies.

Will Stop Them If Possible.

DUBLIN, April 9.—Extensive preparations have been made both by the police and military forces to frustrate, if possible, the meeting of the National League which are to be held to-morrow at different places in Ireland.

Insisted on Peace With Russia.

LONDON, April 9.—A dispatch from Berlin to the Daily News says: It is stated that Emperor William left a written document setting forth his political views, in which he strongly insisted upon the maintenance of good relations with Russia.

Mr. Parnell Summons His Supporters.
LONDON, April 9.—Mr. Parnell has issued an urgent summons to all his supporters in parliament to be present in commons on Wednesday next to vote for the farm laborers relief bill.

The Myers-McAniff Fight ON.

ST. LOUIS, April 9.—The Myers-McAniff fight has been declared off, the former's backer, still said to be Dick Roche, having withdrawn the forfeit money, only a check, but no cash having been put up by Myers' friends. Roche will have nothing further to do with it, and wanted to be kept in the background at the start.

The Chaska a Chestnut.

PIDGEE, Dak., April 9.—John Robb, post trader at Chemung agency, who was quoted a week ago as saying he witnessed the wedding of Chaska and Miss Cora Fellows, says he does know the Indian Chaska, that no wedding has taken place and that Miss Fellows is quietly teaching an Indian school at the agency.

A Hanged Man's Widow Elopes.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 9.—Mrs. Volvovich, wife of the murderer who was hanged here last Tuesday, eloped last night with a butcher named Traoski. They went to Pittsburg, where they will be married to-day. The Polish people of this city are indignant at the woman's conduct.

Suicide Epidemic.

NEW ORLEANS, April 9.—The usual spring suicides have begun here. P. Macon, a dry goods merchant, in business for forty years, shot himself in the head on account of financial troubles.

J. B. Jordan, a drummer for Dumas, furniture dealer, visited the old St. Louis cemetery and blew out his brains on his family tomb, the cause being an attack of malarial fever.

Julia Flannagan, a handsome girl of nineteen, ended her life with bedbug poison. Cause supposed to be love. The room in which she committed suicide has witnessed two murders in the last half-dozen years. An epidemic of suicide like the present nearly always strikes New Orleans about the beginning of April.

The stock market this morning was very irregular. In the opening hour there was some pressure to sell and prices declined 1/4 to 1/2 per cent, but the market stopped under the influence of supporting orders by 12 o'clock and prices closed at about yesterday's final figures. The sales for the morning amounted to 149,900 shares.
